Berlin 'Battle' Peaceful Parade; Youths March

Thousands On Foot Recall Old Rituals Of Hitler's Day

BERLIN, May 29—(AP)—The much-publicized "Battle for Berlin" turned out yesterday to be just another big Communist parade—not the threatened putsch the West had girded itself to meet.

The demonstration, which recalled days of Hitlerite goosestepping, had its significant undertones, however.

The West proved itself ready to meet any Red putsch and not be moved out of the city by Soviet threats.

The East proved it had laid the groundwork for an automaton state in East Germany, firmly in the Communist grip, by pouring out a half million youths to pay homage to Soviet Russia.

Speakers for both sides were claiming victories. But there was none—only a deadlock until the next Berlin crisis.

There was no Communist storming of the West sectors, as first threatened last February.

Neither was the Red outpouring in the East sector any flabby affair.

Up the Wilhelmstrasse, past the rubble that marks the end of Hitler's Reich, into Unter Den Linden where the Kaiser's legions and later the Nazi hordes used to march, came the blue-shirted youths by the tens of thousands.

Hour after hour they marched, through rain and sun, chanting hymns of hate against the West and praise for Communist Russia.

Sandwiched in with the marching youngsters were 10,000 members of the East zone police force, which Western officials claim is the nucleus of an East German army.

The marchers would burst into a frenzy of cheering as they passed the reviewing stand, where German and Russian Communist leaders stood.

Their fathers and older brothers broke into similar frenzies 10 years ago near the same place. Most of them are dead now—following Hitler's ill-fated star.

Such memories seemed to occupy the thoughts of the few thousands of older people lining the Unter Den Linden to watch the march. The horror of war and the bitterness of defeat was still fresh in their minds. They looked chilled and apathetic as they watched the machine-like performance.

It was difficult to tell about the youngsters. It was impossible to know how deeply the Soviet hate-the-West propaganda had sunk into their minds.

Some looked as though they would have traded the whole affair for a couple of oranges or a stick of candy. They were wet, cold and probably would much rather have been at home, or sightseeing on their own.

Others had the attitude of fanatics.

There was no doubt of one fact, however. All were automatons firmly in the grip of their Communist leaders. They cheered when they were supposed to and did as they were told, without question, if not with enthusiasm.

250 Dead So Far In Holiday Mishaps

By The Associated Press

The nation's accidental death toll for the four day Memorial Day week-end mounted to 250 today.

The total included 164 lives lost in traffic mishaps, with highway traffic increased by fair and mild weather over much of the country. Drownings accounted for 47 lives and 39 persons died from miscellaneous causes.

The National Safety Council has predicted that at least 290 persons will have been killed in traffic accidents alone during the holiday period. It expected 30,000,000 automobiles to be on the highways.

The drowning toll included four Fort Worth, Tex., residents who lost their lives when their fishing boat capsized on a lake.

Judith Coplon, Lawyer On Honeymoon

NEW YORK, May 29—(AP)—The former Judith Coplon and her lawyer husband were honeymooning today, cheered by the declaration of the Rabbi who married them that he believed her innocent despite two spy convictions.

The former government girl and Attorney Albert H. Socolow, one of her lawyers, were married yesterday at the Brooklyn home of the bride's widowed mother, Mrs. Rebecca Coplon. Both are 29.

Arms To Europe Aggression-Taft

Ohioan Says Strength At Home Better Aim

WASHINGTON, May 29—(INS)—The move to provide U.S. arms for democratic nations was branded a step toward aggression today by one of the nation's foremost Republicans.

Sen. Taft (R) of Ohio, Senate GOP policy leader, said in a television interview:

1. That aiding European countries with invasion arms would make the United States an aggressor;

2. That Russia should be told that if she started trouble, there will be war, and

3. That he doubted if the democracies would use American arms in the event of a Soviet atom attack.

Sen. Taft declared in the program that U.S. supply of "modern invasion weapons in every country surrounding Russia" could make this country an "aggressor."

The Ohio Senator also said that Russia should be warned "that if they start aggression they're in war." He asserted the greatest security for the world is United States strength. Sen. Taft said:

"In my opinion there is only one thing that will deter Russia from war and that is a strong American Air Force, a strong American supply of atomic bombs."

On the domestic scene, Sen. Taft challenged President Truman to take the stump in Ohio to support State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, who opposes the Republican in the November senatorial election.

He declared Mr. Truman's speeches in Ohio would aid the Republican campaign.

Sen. Taft predicted that he would defeat Mr. Ferguson, but refused to estimate a plurality.

Gear Grinder Terrorizes 25 On Air Liner

G. I. Flashes Gun; Threatens To Kill Passengers; Is Jailed

FRESNO, Calif., May 29—(AP)—John O'Reilly, 28, a meek gear grinder from Los Angeles, terrorized 25 persons with a cocked automatic high over California yesterday.

The Air Force Veteran ranged the length of the Oakland bound airliner for half an hour waving his weapon.

Terrorized passengers cringed. One woman fainted and fell to the plane's floor. He let her lie there.

His reign of terror ended when the plane made an emergency landing here. Deputy sheriffs carted him off to the county psychopathic ward.

His German war bride, Magdaline, 22, waited around and apologized to the passengers and crew after the incident.

The dramatic incident occurred half an hour out of Fresno, O'Reilly, an Air Force veteran, began acting strangely.

Stewardess Jan Herron and a passenger, Mrs. Dorothy McKenna of San Francisco, pieced together the story.

They said O'Reilly first complained that music on the plane's loud speaker was too loud.

After locking himself in the lavatory for half an hour, O'Reilly came out, complained of gas fumes, then smashed two windows with a fire extinguisher.

Miss Herron summoned the pilot, Joseph N. Nuccitelli. As Nuccitelli turned the controls over to Co-Pilot Don Lieto and stepped into the passenger compartment, O'Reilly pulled the gun from his pocket.

Nuccitelli jumped back into the pilot's compartment, locked the door and radioed asking police to be on hand when he made a landing.

Meanwhile, O'Reilly waved the pistol at the passengers shouting "Nobody's going to get me. I'll kill you all."

As the plane stopped, O'Reilly jumped out into the waiting arms of officers. He was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

McCarthy retorted: "The American people should be disturbed by the fact that each time the Congress tries to dig out Communists, the Justice Department screams loudly."

Furore Gains Over Reds In Government

Lee, Remington Say No To Resigning; McCarthy Berated

WASHINGTON, May 29—(AP)—Fast-breaking weekend developments brought to a new boil today the congressional furore over charges that Communists and Communist sympathizers are working for the government.

In the center of the storm stood Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, whose requests for the resignation of two trade officials accused of being security risks—Michael E. Lee and William W. Remington—were flatly rejected by both men on grounds that they could not quit under fire. Sawyer said he was not questioning their loyalty.

There were sharp new clashes, too, between Senate Republicans and the Truman Administration over the Communists-in-government issue.

The State Department fired a new blast at Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) yesterday, saying he is trying to divert attention from his charges that the Department harbors Reds because he "has utterly failed to prove there is a single Communist or pro-Communist" in the agency.

Miss Herron summoned the pilot, Joseph N. Nuccitelli. As Nuccitelli turned the controls over to Co-Pilot Don Lieto and stepped into the passenger compartment, O'Reilly pulled the gun from his pocket.

Nuccitelli jumped back into the pilot's compartment, locked the door and radioed asking police to be on hand when he made a landing.

Meanwhile, O'Reilly waved the pistol at the passengers shouting "Nobody's going to get me. I'll kill you all."

YOUTHS PARADE IN RAIN-SWEPT BERLIN.—Members of the "Free Deutsche Jugend" (Free German Youth) parade along the flag-decked streets of East Berlin carrying posters of Communist leaders in the long heralded "March on Berlin." A torrential rainfall dampened the big doings as drenched paraders moved from the assembly points to pass in review in the Lustgarten. East German officials claimed 500,000 communist youths participated in the rally.

Wife Sticks Tongue In Socket, Is Killed

PHILADELPHIA, May 29—(AP)—A three-year-old boy put his tongue into an electric light socket and was electrocuted last night, Detective Anthony Galen reported.

The child, Francis Ritch, was found in the cellar of his home with his tongue in the outlet of a plugged-in extension cord.

Sheriff Howard Clark, reporting this, said Mrs. Iona Goshorn, 29, of R. D. 1, Homeworth, said today she accidentally shot and killed her husband while testing the safety catch on a .22 caliber rifle.

At Omaha, Neb., Attorney General McGrath compared McCarthy's tactics to those of Hitler's Gestapo.

McCarthy retorted: "The American people should be disturbed by the fact that each time the Congress tries to dig out Communists, the Justice Department screams loudly."

He died at 10:15 p.m. in the Alliance City hospital without regaining consciousness.

Surviving are a son, aged four, and a daughter, aged two.

Mrs. Hess said she thought her husband had gone to Logtown northwest of Lisbon, where he had a job of plowing to do. When he didn't return at nightfall, she assumed he had stayed overnight.

Sunday morning she telephoned Logtown and found he had not been there. She then called the sheriff's office and a search was started.

Evidently Hess had been plowing along the creek bed when the tractor hit a washout and overturned into the creek.

He was born in Harrisburg, Pa., July 19, 1890, the son of Henry and Barbara Ann Hess. Surviving are his widow, Mary; two daughters, Mrs. William Hatfield of Coatesville and Mrs. Paul Gund of Satsburyville, Pa.; his mother of Bristol, Pa.; two brothers, Alfred and Harry of Coatesville; two sisters, Mrs. Hastings Dickinson of East Chicago, Ind., and Mrs. Horace Townsley of Duluth, Minn.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Henry funeral home, in charge of Rev. Carleton Jones. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Housing Law
Makes Buying
Homes Easier

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The new federal housing law makes apartments, renters and landlords all obsolete, according to Tom P. Coogan of Miami Fla., president of the National Association of home builders.

That's what he told all U.S. builders to expect from the new law at the national board meeting of the NAHB in Washington. He contends nobody will be content to live in an apartment—except in the center of the biggest cities—or put up with the problems of being a renter when they discover that they can get better living quarters as a home owner. He says:

"No matter how you look at it, it will be less economical to rent than to buy, even for the low-income families. And the home owner gets all the advantages of having his own yard, being able to keep pets and giving his kids plenty of freedom. He gets all this for a very small down payment, less monthly payments than rent would be, and he's buying his house and getting something tangible for his money."

Coogan refers to the liberalized federal aids to privately built and financed housing which were recently enacted:

For new two-bedroom homes valued by the government at not more than $7,000—or up to $8,000 in areas of high building costs, Uncle Sam will insure a loan up to 95 per cent. The buyer pays 4½ per cent interest and is given 30 years to complete payments. This means a down payment of about $350.

For homes with three or four bedrooms, which can run up to $9,000 or $10,000, respectively, Uncle Sam will make the same 95 per cent guarantee with 30-year terms. Thus, under the new law, a four bedroom house in a high-cost area costing $10,000 would require only $500 down payment. Formerly with an FHA insured mortgage, a $13,000 down payment would have been required.

For new homes with three or four bedrooms in the $10,000 to $11,000 class, FHA can now insure 95 per cent of the first $7,000 and 70 per cent of the next $4,000. That is a maximum of $9450 on an $11,000 house.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q—My African violet is not too robust. A few buds form now and then but they never bloom. Will you give me a few tips?

A—Failure of buds to open is most likely due to overwatering and a too-dry atmosphere. Soak the soil but once a week, and spray the foliage with water at that time to cleanse it of dust. Feed once every six or eight weeks with a complete fertilizer, such as 4-12-4 or 5-10-5 or the like, using a teaspoonful in a quart of tepid water. Morning sunlight is of great help in producing flowers and a healthy and sturdy plant.

Building Transformed

George E. Bergman received a building permit last week to alter the concrete block building at 584 S. Madison ave. By making interior changes and installing walls, he will convert it into a six-room home. Estimated cost of this work is $600.

Will Build Apartment

Clyde Reich of E. Fourth st. will build a two-car garage with an apartment on the second floor. Cement block and frame construction will be used for the building. Approximately $3,000 will be spent on this work. Mr. Reich indicated on the permit, J. J. Rea will remodel the kitchen at the house at 911 Jennings ave. at a cost of $500.

Additions Made

Mrs. Mary Sabona will add two rooms to her home at 973 W. Pershing st. The brick addition will cost $2,875. Wade Schaefer obtained a permit to build an addition of two rooms and a garage at his home at 1873 N. Ellsworth ave. Brick construction will be used and it will cost $2,000.

Three Repair Exteriors

Dr. Joseph Schmid will re-roof his house at 631 N. Ellsworth ave. at the cost of $500. Thomas and Pearl Young are repairing their residence at 645 E. Fourth st. Aluminum siding will be placed on the home at an estimated cost of $1,000.

Tullio Ciotti is building a frame porch on his house at 547 Walnut st. Cost of the addition is $250.

Garage Planned

A. T. Beall took a permit to build an $800 two-car garage at 763 Newgarden st. Concrete block will be used for this structure. Andrew Hodge will alter his garage by building a $1,500 concrete block and frame addition.

For Sagging Screens

When you dig out the screen doors in a few weeks, you may find that their joints are loose, causing them to sag. Go buy a turnbuckle and metal rod. Fasten one end of the rod to the face of the frame at the center of the intersection between the bottom rail and the outer vertical rail; the other end, as high up as it will reach on the face of the vertical rail that carries the hinges. When the rod is secure, use the turnbuckle.

Dramatic Stairway

A distinctive modern stairway is painted in interesting tones of red and gray. The stair treads are painted, alternately, in two different tones of red to increase the visibility of separate treads. The risers, starting at the bottom with a deep tone of gray, are painted in progressive lighter shades as the stairs ascend. The effect is both dramatic and beautiful.

Garage Can Double

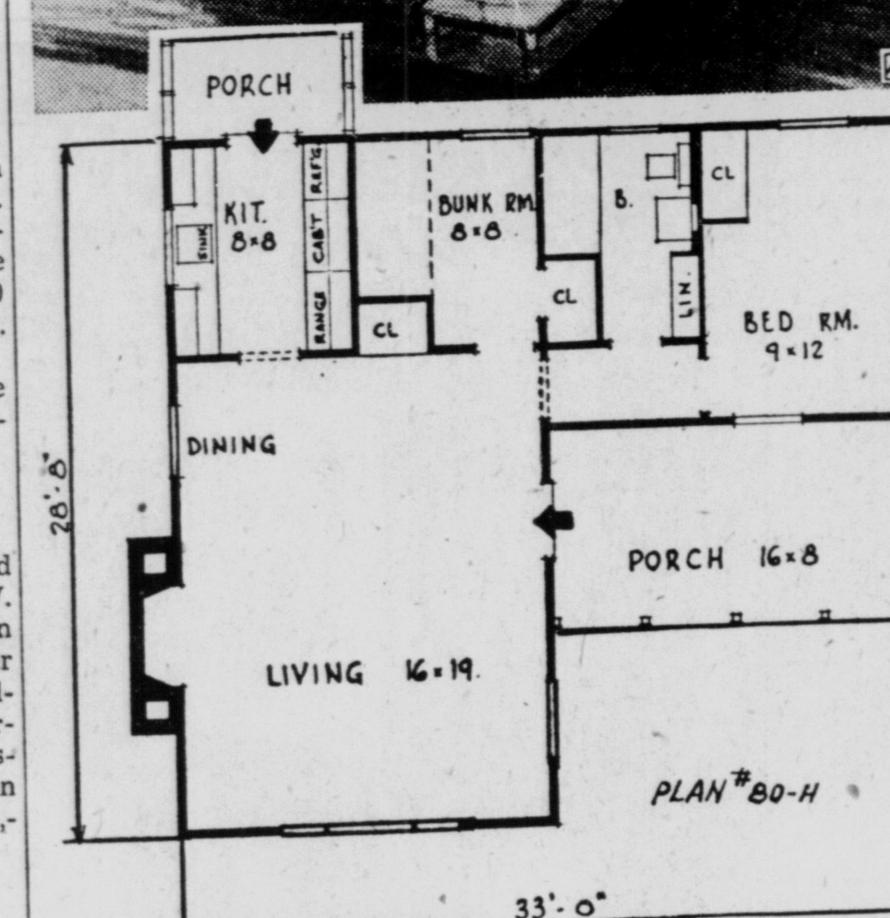

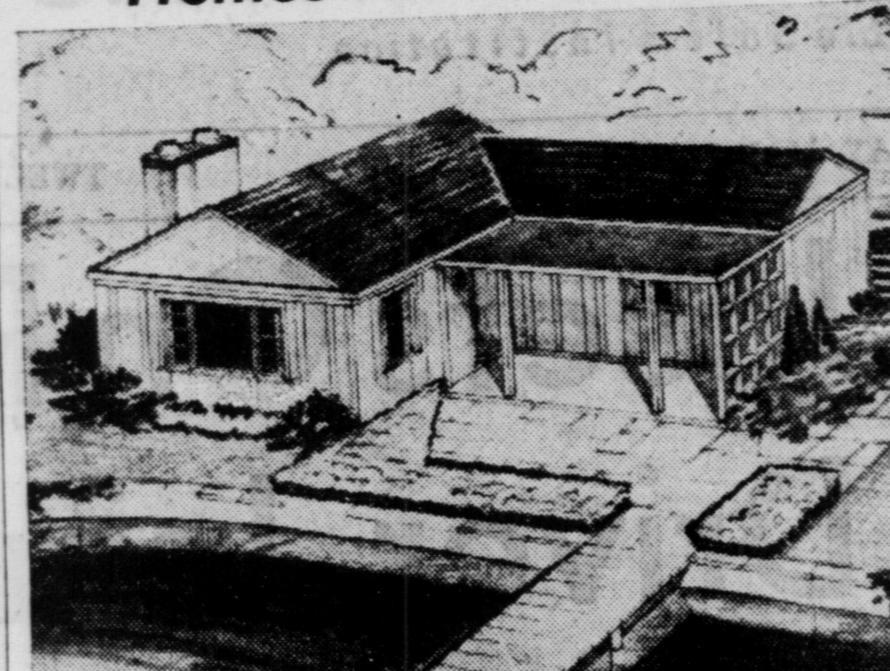

If you have no basement, your garage can double as a recreation room.

Finish the walls with building board or plaster. Use the same material attached to the collar beams extending across the garage to provide a flat ceiling and to hide the rough construction of the underside of the roof. Build shallow wall cabinets along one wall for storage of car equipment, outdoor tools and games. Extend these cabinets from floor to ceiling.

High on the opposite wall, provide additional cabinets or shelves so that furniture can be placed under them to save floor space. Sliding doors save space and make the cupboard interiors easy to reach, even when the car is in the garage.

With the face of a panel down, lift it and wedge it into position, using the props. The panels should be forced tightly together and nailed with four-penny finishing nails, driven at angle, with the

Cracked Ceilings Dangerous, Unsightly

By BOB SCHARRF

Written For NEA Service

Cracked ceilings are not only unsightly but highly dangerous. Scores of people are injured each year by falling plaster, which frequently gives way without warning.

Cracks or bellies are warning signs. These should be ripped out and a new surface applied.

A new ceiling can be made from any of the following materials: plaster, fireboard, plywood, insulation board or gypsum wallboard. Plastering generally requires professional skill, but the others can be installed by any ambitious homeowner.

After choosing the material, lay out a design to scale on paper before doing any actual work. Accurately mark all openings, columns, lights fixtures and other irregularities on the drawing. Then take the unit size of the material you have selected and try patterning it on the layout.

If a border is required, it should be the same size all around, or if a fraction of a course of tile or panel is needed to complete the ceiling, the fraction should be divided equally and part used on each side of the room.

The first thing to do to the damaged ceiling is to install 1x2 inch wooden furring strips. These are nailed on 16-inch centers (or 12-inch centers when using 12 x 12-inch ceiling tiles) right over the old plaster, at right angles to the joist.

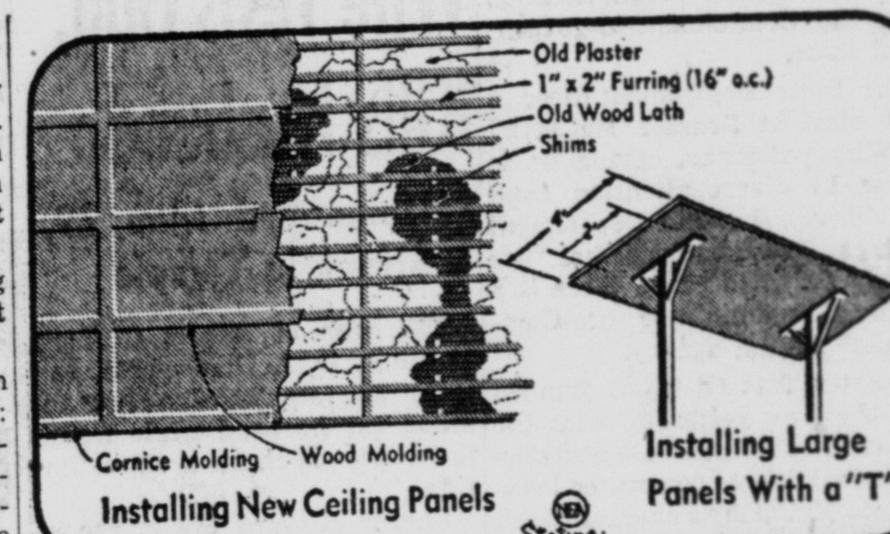

Apply any additional furring that may be required to lend added support to the panels. Shim the furring where necessary to provide a true and level surface.

When installing tile blocks, start them at one edge of the ceiling. The tongue edges should face toward the middle of the room and fit snugly, without forcing, into the next course.

Using 1½-inch plasterboard nails or three-penny smooth box nails spaced 6 to 8 inches apart. Face nailing, if necessary on the first and last courses, should be done carefully and neatly. During installation check the joint lines occasionally for trueness.

Erecting larger ceiling panels is more involved manually. Make two T-head props, from one by fours, about one inch longer than the distance from the floor or scaffold to the ceiling.

With the face of a panel down, lift it and wedge it into position, using the props. The panels should be forced tightly together and nailed with four-penny finishing nails, driven at angle, with the Simple steps in putting up new panels over old, cracked ceiling heads carefully set slightly below the surface.

On certain types of fiberboard panels, steel fasteners can be used, eliminating the necessity of face nailing.

For those who prefer, many different panel joint treatments are possible by using standard wood molding. Nail all moldings securely in place, spacing the nails not more than 8 inches apart. Use long enough ones so they enter the furring far enough for good holding power.

Gypsum boards are installed as described immediately above, securing them with four-penny finishing nails placed at least ¾ of an inch in from the edges and ends and spaced from 4 to 6 inches apart. To make a joint-free ceiling, a mixture of gypsum finishing cement and water is forced into the butts and nail holes.

Reinforcing tape is then applied over the joints. After this has dried, another coat of cement is applied, allowed to harden and then sanded down.

Cost Of Homes

Can Be Trimmed

17 Ways Presented
To Lesser Price

There are many ways of cutting costs without cutting corners when building a modern home. They can give you more house for less money. Better still they can give a better, larger home for the same money.

It isn't a matter of skimping, but a matter of thinking.

Here are 17 ways to keep costs down in building a home:

1. Simple perimeter—Keep plan and elevations as free of breaks as possible. Nearly square or rectangular plan is

2. No roof hips or valleys—Every change in a roof line adds extra cutting, fitting, roofing, flashing. A simple gable roof is cheapest. Make it steep enough to avoid the need for expensive underlays of felt or built-up membranes—also steep enough to utilize the attic for extra bedrooms.

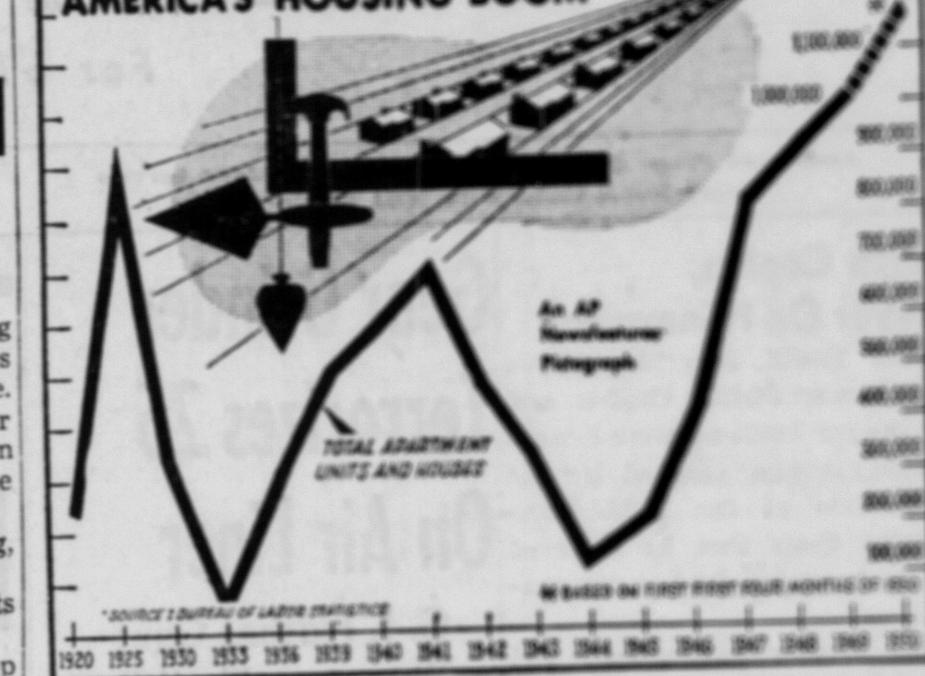

3. No sheet metal—Eliminating leaders and gutters is possible with the wide projecting eaves. Although a wide roof overhang is not cheap, it will help to shade and shelter windows and side walls, keep the house cooler in summer.

4. No basement—Elimination of basement frequently saves considerable. Compensating storage can be provided in attic, garage, or first floor store rooms.

5. Roof trusses—Trussed rafter construction, spanning outer walls permits the finishing of the entire interior without waiting for partitions and framing. According to the University of Illinois, the use of trusses alone may save more than 5 per cent.

6. Pre-cut lumber—The use of

one-length studs (7' 9") precut in the yard allows for the use of standard 4 by 8-foot wallboard panels without cutting.

7. Dry wall construction—Standard 4 by 8-foot panels for walls and ceilings save lathing and plastering.

8. Minimum interior walls—Open planning of rooms, dwarf partitions (walls that don't reach to the ceiling), built-in plywood storage compartments combine to save much money.

9. Fewer doors—Every door costs from $50 to $100 to buy, frame, trim, hang, equip with hardware and paint. Use doors only for bath or bedrooms. Light plywood and jalousies make ideal closet doors.

10. Interior trim—Use no molding. A piece of 1 by 4-inch lumber can make a baseboard and lattice strips can trim windows and doors.

11. Windows—Stock windows of simple design can be placed so as to impose the least interference with wallboards.

12. Stairs—Keep them straight for economy. Avoid winders and landings, elaborate handrails and newels.

13. Back-to-back plumbing—When kitchen and bathroom are so planned, one plumbing stack serves both. Also plan on the shortest run to street utilities.

14. Centralized heating—A heating plant near the center of a house involves shorter ducts and pipes. Remember an inside chimney draws better than an outside flue.

15. Prefabricated chimney—Low-cost composition chimneys are now approved in many localities and are far less expensive than masonry chimneys.

16. Prefab built-ins—Wardrobes, dressers, chests

Backward Chairs
May Save Lives*Aircraft Seats Said
Safer Turned Around

CHICAGO May, 29—(AP)—Airplane passengers would stand a good chance of surviving some usually fatal air crashes if their seats were sufficiently sturdy and faced backwards, an Air Force crash expert opined today.

Maj. John Paul Stapp based his conclusion on rocket powered sled tests made at Edwards Air Force Base, Muroc, Calif.

This sled streaks along tracks equipped with 45 sets of friction brakes that can slow or stop it almost instantly.

In a talk prepared for the Aero Medical Association, Maj. Stapp said five volunteers had made 19 runs on these tests at various speeds and sudden slowdowns without injury.

The tests indicate, he added, that "the limits of human endurance in this position have not been reached."

"It would be safe to conclude that in the backward facing seated position, protected only by a lap belt, suitable head rest and cushioning in the back of the seat, an airplane passenger would be expected to sustain up to 35 G of applied deceleration for the duration usually encountered in crashes.

"He would even be in condition to make his escape from the aircraft if seats capable of remaining intact through such an impact were provided."

A force of 35 G means 35 times the normal pull of gravity. Thus a man who weighs 200 pounds would create a pressure of 7,000.

pounds during the split second of the crash.

This force occurs when a plane traveling at 150 miles an hour crashes at an angle that brings it to a halt within six feet after it strikes the earth.

Other Air Force crash experts said from 70 to 75 per cent of all airplane crashes are around airports in takeoffs or landings and that most of these are in the theoretically survivable crash range of 20 to 35 G.

Pennsy Income
Declines In 1950

PHILADELPHIA, May 29—(AP)—Gross revenues in April of $5,512,879 from the total for the corresponding month in 1949, the Pennsylvania Railroad reports.

Last month's gross earnings were $74,507,907, against $80,020,786 in April of 1949.

The railroad said net income dropped $1,411,935 in April, 1950. It said that for the first four months of this year gross earnings decreased $38,119,827. The January 1 to April 30 figure for 1950 is $269,827,899, compared with $307,947,726 for the similar period of 1949.

Liquor Chief*Rutkowski Wanted To Speak At Hearings

CLEVELAND, May 29—(AP)—

Anthony A. Rutkowski, Ohio liquor enforcement chief, and State Liquor Board Chairman Frank M. Krebs differed today on whether the former had the right to speak at a board hearing last week.

Rutkowski contends Krebs deprived him of a constitutional privilege when he refused to allow him to take the floor in Columbus on Wednesday.

The public hearing was on proposed changes in liquor regulations.

Except for himself, Rutkowski asserted, every other person present was allowed to speak. These included "well-paid lobbyists and self-seeking pressure groups," he added.

But in Dayton, Krebs said he and state liquor director asked all liquor division chiefs a month ago for suggestions on the proposed changes.

Rutkowski was the only chief who did not comply, Krebs pointed out. He said he felt that because the enforcement chief submitted no suggestions, he had for-fitted his right to talk during the

Rutkowski was the only chief who wanted to object to a regula-cused him of "seeking publicity."

Industrial Stability

THE GENERAL MOTORS five-year contract with United Auto Workers has crystallized labor-management possibility which obviously appealed strongly to that corporation's management. It must be assumed, since the contract was entered into voluntarily by the union's negotiators and national officers, that labor leaders also were thinking in a new direction.

General Motors occupies a dominating position in industry. Other managements and other unions will be strongly influenced by the underlying thought of the new agreement that if management and labor can come to an agreement on terms, the terms then should become the basis for a long period of stability.

Stability has been the most-sought-after condition in industry. Management has been willing to make great concessions in the hope of assurance of settled relations with labor. It has taken the attitude that almost anything is possible if it has the privilege of knowing in advance what must be done.

This search for stability on management's part has been blocked by a tactic of unionism which calls for unrest as a means of keeping the radical element in the membership satisfied. Union agents have caused work stoppages for no better reason than politics inside their unions. Wage earners have been called off their jobs by strikes instigated by radicals for the sole purpose of waging industrial warfare.

If an atmosphere of unionism now exists which makes it possible for leadership to feel secure enough in its position to pursue stability instead of turmoil, of the radical element in unionism no longer is strong enough to challenge moderate leadership, labor-management relations in the United States have begun to mature.

They have approached the only condition consistent with the American dream of a society of equal parts operating together in harmony and understanding. The ultimate aim of all responsible unionists and employers has come within grasp—an understanding based on mutual interest in providing the

It goes without saying that the people who have suggested these possibilities are within greatest good for the greatest number. reach and have formalized them in a labor-management contract have assumed a tremendous responsibility. If they fail, they will blight the hopes of everybody who dares to think that in America there is no need and no place for the old world's bitter feud between the employer and his employee.

Newcomerstown Has A Hero

CY YOUNG at the age of 83 is about as unheroic a figure as could be found in a month of Sundays, with the aid of the FBI and a posse of Hollywood talent scouts. But in Newcomerstown, Cy is heroic enough in his own home town proportions to have a new park and swimming pool dedicated to him. And there is, of course, a good reason for this. It tells something about the inside workings of the American standard of values.

Cy Young did two things to merit respect. He was just about the best baseball pitcher who ever is likely to grace the national pastime. And when he had finished pitching 511 victories against 313 losses, including three no-hitters and one of them a perfect game in which no batter reached first base, he settled down to the difficult assignment of growing old gracefully. Of the two, perhaps the latter has been more important in the Cy Young legend.

Not many Americans can win fame and stimulate community pride by being the greatest baseball pitcher of their day. But everybody, with a little luck, can buckle down to the assignment of bearing his weight of years gracefully.

Newcomerstown has done well to tap Denton True Young, its most famous resident, for a knighthood of immortality. The memorial in his honor will bring pleasure to thousands, and may it be granted that for many years to come Cy may be on hand to puff his pipe in serene contemplation of his neighbors having a real good time in his memory. He wouldn't have it any other way.

Farm Stabilization

By PETER EDSON

Agreements, Orders Tend To Steady Markets

WASHINGTON THE GROWING extent to which Department of Agriculture "marketing agreements" and "marketing orders" are used to control production and sales of perishable farm products is little realized.

The principal products covered are milk, fruits, vegetables, nuts and hops. There are now in effect 35 milk marketing orders. There are 28 fruit and vegetable agreements and orders. As some of the agreements cover whole states or several states in a commercial growing area, they really take in a lot of territory and a lot of production.

Ordinarily, these agreements and orders might be considered violations of the anti-trust act. But the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, under which these things are set up, carefully provides that all agreements and orders shall be protected against anti-trust prosecution for combination and conspiracy.

Let any farmer under a marketing order violate his contract, however, and there is the piper to pay. Civil suits may be filed and court injunctions issued to prevent further violation of the order and to enforce compliance. Civil action may also be filed to secure triple damages — three times the value of the product shipped in violation of the order.

Finally criminal action may be taken. Convicted violators of an order may be fined from $50 to $500 for each violation. And every day's non-compliance counts as a separate violation.

MARKETING orders are issued by the secretary of Agriculture. The orders are binding on all the handlers of the commodity, regardless of whether they sign and approve the order or not.

Marketing orders apply principally to metropolitan milksheds, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Clinton (Iowa), Columbus, Dayton-Springfield, Dubuque, Duluth, Fall River, Fort Wayne, Kansas City, Knoxville, Lima, Louisville, Lowell-Lawrence, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Nashville, New Orleans, New York, Omaha-Council Bluffs, Paducah, Philadelphia, Quad Cities (Ill.), St. Louis, Sioux City, South Bend, Springfield (Mass.), Toledo, Topeka, Wichita, Worcester, and the area where Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia come together are covered today.

Marketing agreements are much more loose arrangements. They are voluntary contracts entered into between the secretary of Agriculture and the growers.

THOUGH today's spel is aimed at this column's friends of the Audubon Society, the bird watchers, anyone may listen to this complaint about the peculiar behavior of a goof called the catbird.

The catbird, it says here in the dictionary, is an American songbird. He is called a catbird because one of his antics is to pretend he is a cat, newing until the real cats in the vicinity get cricks in their necks trying to locate the sound. Perhaps this complaint should be made by T. Manville the tomcat, but he is only an incidental victim of catbird nonsense.

The catbird can imitate all other birds separately or collectively. When the mutt is in good voice and feeling his bird seed, he sounds like a radio sound effect for a woodland scene. He is

Money For Small Business

By CLARKE BEACH

ADMINISTRATION leaders have been trying for a long time to solve the credit problem of small business. Now the President thinks he's got it. The two most novel features of his idea small business, will probably be included in an administration bill to be called the Small Business Act of 1950.

BOTH REPUBLICANS and Democrats long ago concluded that something must be done to ease the credit market for small businessmen. The point was stressed in the annual report of the House Committee on Small Business in the Republican-controlled Eightieth Congress. The solution proposed in that report, however, was tax relief for small business so that they could accumulate reserves to plow back into their businesses. The same committee, now under Democratic control, in its 1950 progress report proposed a study of various new plans, including those the President subsequently adopted.

All factions have agreed that small business is now facing a new and critical credit problem. Modern mechanized industry has increased the money requirements of small business trying to compete with large firms in scientific mass production. It takes a lot of money to start small businesses. It is also costly to expand a plant and replace obsolete machinery. The small businessman finds no difficulty getting short-term loans, but they don't help. The sums needed are so large that they cannot be repaid in a few months.

Most conventional banks can't make many long-term business loans, because they must keep a large proportion of their funds liquid. A few large banks in some cities do make such loans on a substantial scale. But they serve only a minor proportion of the nation's small businesses.

SELLING STOCKS or bonds to get capital—a method used by large corporations—is not feasible for small business. Borrowing equity capital from small investors isn't practicable, because most people would prefer to use their savings to buy homes, government bonds or insurance. Insurance companies and other large investors don't like to invest in small firms—unless they thereby gain control of them. They prefer the securities of large, well-established concerns.

Most small businesses do manage, nevertheless, to get capital, somehow, somewhere, when they need it. A sizeable minority don't succeed, however, and their businesses often wither or fail for lack of credit. Such small business men have been besieging Congress for help for years.

The capital bank idea is, briefly, an investment company which obtains capital by selling securities on the open market and then lends it to small business on a long-term basis. Not being a bank of deposit, it doesn't have to worry about keeping its funds liquid.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Amount Of Exercise Depends On Age

TOO many take too little exercise or none at all, especially during the winter. Their muscles and circulation lack the stimulation which is provided by exercise.

Often they make a second mistake by starting out on the first pleasant day of spring by trying to make up for lost time. Three or four sets of strenuous tennis or eight months of desk work can be most undesirable.

How much exercise a person should take to maintain the best possible health is not easy to say. However, the strenuous athletics which is all right for a young man of 18 or 20 can harm the rapidly growing boy of 13 or the man of 40.

Age is one of the factors to take into consideration when considering exercise. The greatest amount of physical exertion can undoubtedly be taken by young men in full maturity, usually from about 18 to 25.

Even at these ages, however, it is possible to overdo, especially for the man who is not "in training." Also as one correspondent recently wrote me, scholastic sports should be for amusement and not so strenuously conducted as to injure the heart.

After the late 20's there is a gradual decrease in the tolerance to strenuous physical exertion, though, of course, the ability is tremendously influenced by practice and "condition."

The sex also influences the amount and kind of physical exercise desirable. There are certain types of exercise which women can stand better than men. For example, most women can stay in cold water longer than men because they have a larger amount of fat under the skin which serves as insulating material.

The muscles of women, however, are not as a rule so well developed as those of men and their organs are so arranged that certain types of physical exertion are frequently undesirable and cause difficulty.

The general health of the individual is an obvious but frequently overlooked factor in deciding what exercise is best. In practically all forms of heart disease the amount of exercise has to be decreased. Exercise after an illness or operation must be approached gradually, as the muscles have become flabby and need to be reconditioned.

The influence of the general physical condition is obvious and should, therefore, always be one of the items weighed in choosing what kind and amount of exercise to indulge in.

Man Or Mape?

By HAL BOYLE

Let's Leave Those Apes Alone

NEW YORK

SHALL WE HAVE "mages" in the world?

A "mape," presumably, is what you would get if you cross-breed a man and an ape. Creation of this hybrid by artificial mating between humans and apes recently was proposed by Dr. Sydney William Britton, University of Virginia physiologist.

He said it was scientifically possible and might help our hairy forest cousins speed up their evolution—being them out of the woods and onto civilized sidewalks.

Man Boyle This proposal drew howls of indignation from some critics. They said it was immoral, impossible, unthinkable, and the mere suggestion of such a thing made them nervous.

I'm against the idea, too, but on ethical grounds: I don't think it would be fair to the apes. And not because of a point that Dr. Britton himself raised—that men might easily turn the apes into a new race of savages.

I JUST can't believe that a mape—half-man, half-ape—would be happy in our culture, physically, mentally or morally.

As it is now, apes in the jungle live a more naturally moral life than human beings, they are less confused of mind and they are bodily stronger. They are more polite to each other than people; they require no police force to keep them in order. Divorce is rare among them. Without benefit of child psychologists they rear their babies into fine healthy apes instead of juvenile delinquents.

While men scrabble daily with each other for power and more power, the apes enjoy peace in their time. They don't start wars. And who can say they don't enjoy a lovely sunset just as much as we?

Would it be justice to marry this fine clean race to the troubles of mankind? If by doing so, human beings might gain the elemental common sense virtues of the apes it would be a worthwhile project—for our sakes. But the chances are we wouldn't raise the apes higher—we'd merely educate them to our vices, rather than ourselves acquire their merits.

But let us suppose they do cross-breed a human being and an ape. By the time he is in kindergarten before he has learned to pledge allegiance to the American flag, he is hired by a professional football team to play fullback.

He quickly becomes a star. He goes for touchdown after touchdown. Nothing can stop him. He can do everything except sign an autograph. In mid-season romance blossoms and he marries a girl from Brooklyn. The happy fans give him a new motor car for a wedding present—and a suit from Brooks Brothers.

Salem Polo Club Defeats Tough Harbor Hills Team 9-8

Pidgeon, Smith
Star For Locals

Score All Nine Goals
In Season's Opener

The Salem Polo Club's 1950 season got off to an auspicious start Sunday afternoon, with a 9-8 victory over the powerful Columbus Harbor Hills team on the Salem field.

Playing for the first time on a skinned field, Salem took a quick 3-0 lead in the opening chukker. Harbor Hills came back with four in the second, but Salem held them off with two goals of their own.

Inaccurate shooting marked the balance of the game, due to the muddy field. Harbor Hills knotted the score in the third period at 5-5. Willie Smith scored a fancy shot in front of the goal and Jim Pidgeon tallied on a 30-foot foul in the fourth. The Cougars in the final chukker with two scores in the fifth to tie it up again, but Jim Pidgeon wrapped it up in the final chukker with two goals.

He and Smith scored all nine of Salem's goals, Smith getting four. Hal and Jimmy Everett turned in some fine defensive work, added to the strong driving of Tony Sheen.

Harbor Hills fielded 14 highly-trained ponies and their superiority began to show in the second period, when Columbus scored four times.

Otto Harris of Columbus left the game in the fifth chukker, when the hard bamboo root ball, driven from a teammate's back-stroke, struck him on the knee cap, forcing his retirement from the game. He hopes to be back in the lineup Tuesday when his team meets Salem in the second game of the holiday weekend doubleheader.

"Best Meet Ever" Says Official Fred Cope

Although Salem High's four boys failed to score any points, Fred Cope thought the state track meet Saturday was the best he'd ever seen.

He said Glenn Young of East Palestine, who took thirds in both hurdle events and second in the broad jump, was beaten only by a whisker in all three events. Young was leading over the eighth hurdle in the highs, but was nipped at the wire. In the broad jump, he was beaten by one-half inch by Hairston of Columbus Central, the same fellow who nosed out Young last year by one-fourth inch.

Bob Taylor of East Palestine pole vaulted an even 12 feet, but had to be satisfied with a nine-way tie for fifth. The Bulldogs scored 10 1/9 points, good for fifth place in the meet.

Cope said the state's Negro boys dominated the meet, winning 10 of 14 first places. Of the 108 boys on the 27 mile relay teams running, 75 were Negro lads.

But Clarence Young, writing in the Ohio State Journal this morning, quoted "a source close to Ohio State athletics" as saying that Dye had been offered a five year contract at $9,000 a year. Dye gets $6,000 a year from Ohio State and only a year-to-year contract.

Dye himself said "it isn't true" when asked by reporters in St. Louis last night if he would resign at Ohio State to go to Washington.

Ten Hoff Impresses Losing To Walcott

MANNHEIM, Germany, May 29—(AP)—Hein Ten Hoff, the towering German, gained rather than lost prestige in dropping a ten-round decision to Jersey Joe Walcott.

Ten Hoff himself was so pleased over his showing in the bout last night that he said he expects an invitation to go to the United States and maybe earn a shot at the heavyweight title.

Walcott, the 1-2 favorite who broke Ten Hoff's nose but couldn't knock him out, joined in praise of the giant Teuton's performance.

"He's a fine fighter and should go a long way," Walcott said.

However, the 30-year-old American blamed the rain which fell through the first six rounds for his failure to land a knockout punch.

Southwest Ohio Is Sport Ruler

Saturday's Feats Are Near Grand-Slam

COLUMBUS, O., May 29.—(AP)—Ohio's high school athletes turned their faces toward the southwestern district today and saluted the champions of practically everything.

The kids from the southern sector of the sunset side of Ohio wrapped up their near grand-slam Saturday in the annual spring carnival at Ohio State University's athletic plant.

The champions:
Class A track: Cincinnati Central Vocational.
Class B track: Wyoming.
Class A baseball: Cincinnati Withrow.

Class B baseball: Amelia.
Tennis doubles: John Bowling and Barry Rich, Cincinnati Walnut Hills.

Tennis singles: John Rauh, Cincinnati Walnut Hills.

Add those titles to the state swimming championship won by Walnut Hills, the cross-country grabbed by Central Vocational, and the Class A basketball crown copped by Springfield's Wildcats, and you can see that the southwest has had quite a year.

The only actual title to elude the kids from that sector was Miller City's startling Class B basketball win—and the champs had to whip Eaton of the southwest to climb on the throne.

A walk, a single and a triple by Doby racked up the last two runs in the final frame.

Today was an off day for the Tribesmen. Tomorrow, when they meet Detroit in a Memorial Day double header, Lemon and Gene Bearden will handle the mound chores.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting: Bob Dillinger, Athletics—Had a field day with four hits, including a double and homer in four times at bat as the A's nipped the Yankees, 6-5, after New York had won the opener, 6-3.

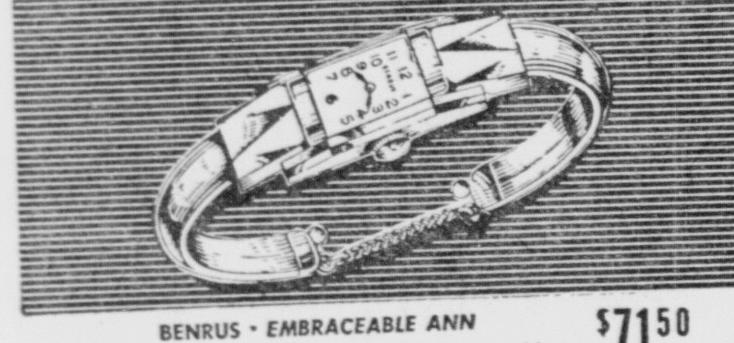

Bob Taylor of East Palestine pole vaulted an even 12 feet, but had to be satisfied with a nine-way tie for fifth. The Bulldogs scored 10 1/9 points, good for fifth place in the meet.

Cope said the state's Negro boys dominated the meet, winning 10 of 14 first places. Of the 108 boys on the 27 mile relay teams running, 75 were Negro lads.

Salem's entries were Jay England, discus, Lige Alexander, high jump, Paul Provens, mile, John Votaw, pole vault.

Penn State's football captain, Owen Doughtery of Dunmore, Pa., plays right field on the baseball team.

Merchants Defeat Salineville Nine

A two run rally in the last of the seventh was the deciding margin in a 4-2 victory by the Salem Merchants over Salineville in a Columbiana County League game Sunday at Centennial park.

Jim Barnes pitched for Salem, giving up only four hits, while his team collected six. Barnes fanned 10 batters.

The Merchants announced Sunday that Dutch Taubler will be the team's new coach-manager. He will direct the team Tuesday afternoon when it engages the Salem Junior American Legion nine in a doubleheader at the park.

Manager Chet Brautigam of the Legion said he'll nominate Bob Theiss and Jim Cosgarea to oppose the Merchants. The first game will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Wynn pitched seven of the eight innings in the opener, and the tough part about Wynn's performance was that the Indians still lost the game, 2-0, even though they banged the opposition for nine hits. Gromek blanked the White Sox in the nightcap, 7-0.

Wynn's downfall resulted from two things. He walked Hank Majesk in the third and then served home run pitch to Gus Zernial.

His other obstacle was classy Bill Wight, who allowed nine hits but kept them so scattered the Tribe couldn't even score a single run.

Sam Zoidak hurled a hitless final inning for the Tribesmen after Wynn was taken out by a pinchhitter. But there was no stopping the Clevelanders in the second game. Their nine hits then came when they could be used.

A single by Bob Kennedy in the second frame brought in Al Rosen and Larry Doby's two-run homer boosted the score to 3-0 in the fourth. Rosen's homer added another in the sixth and Joe Gordon doubled in the fifth marker in the next inning.

A walk, a single and a triple by Doby racked up the last two runs in the final frame.

Today was an off day for the Tribesmen. Tomorrow, when they meet Detroit in a Memorial Day double header, Lemon and Gene Bearden will handle the mound chores.

Atomic Secrets Not So Sacred

Soviet Bomb Frees
Some U. S. Data

COLUMBUS, May 29—(AP)—Because Russia has achieved an atomic explosion, the United States may release some now-secret atomic energy information, an American authority said here yesterday.

Gordon Dean, member of the Atomic Energy Commission, talked at a public meeting of the Blue Pencil Club of Ohio, an organization of newspaper editors. He said it might be "wise" to declassify some data.

"The Russian atomic explosion, taken together with several other events, suggests that in the interest of national security it may be wise to declassify rather broadly certain scientific and technical information which the Russians must have possessed in order to achieve an explosion," he said.

Dean continued:

"The simple fact of the (Russian) explosion tells us quite reliably certain things. The proof is in the pudding, so to speak. The Russian explosion is a much more significant and reliable guide for declassifying certain information than the confession of Dr. Emil Fuchs."

Only information that will help the Atomic energy program of the United States more than it will that of a potential enemy can be made known, he continued. Data that will be kept secret, he said, includes:

1. Location of key sites not already known.
2. Description of equipment used when "its design, purpose, and efficiency are only of interest to an enemy."
3. Revelation that a certain facility is devoting high priority to a particular weapon because it would "solve a serious problem for a foreign agent."

WIN PROMOTIONS

CLEVELAND, May 29—(AP)

WASHINGTON, May 29—(INS)

Master Sergeant Nicholas Chicchese, 49, has finished 30 years service with the Leathernecks and is going to retire Wednesday.

Sgt. Chicchese, who lists his home as Youngstown, O., stands five feet, four inches, but it has never interfered with his performance on the oversize drum.

DECORATE VETS' GRAVES

Mrs. Connell

Mrs. W. E. Connell, 300½ Forest St., Gadsden, Ala., was "Nervous, tired when I got up in the morning, had no appetite, lost weight and food just didn't taste good at all."

Then, she became one of the countless thousands who took HADACOL on the advice of her druggist.

But all that suffering is over now because HADACOL has helped Mrs. Connell just as it has so many others who were suffering from ailments or sickness caused by deficiencies of Vitamin B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. She has taken about 10 bottles of HADACOL and intends to continue taking this wonderful formula.

Like New Person

Mrs. Connell says: "I was nervous, tired when I got up in the morning.

I had no appetite, I lost weight and food just didn't taste good at all.

Then I heard about the wonderful results that other folks were getting from HADACOL. After taking three bottles I felt like a new person. I have a huge appetite, I am not tired in the mornings any more. I just feel wonderful, thanks to HADACOL."

Try HADACOL With Certainty

...because it is sold on a money-back guarantee. HADACOL is scientifically formulated, compounded to help you get that wonderful, wonderful HADACOL feeling. Refuse substitutes. Don't let anyone try to convince you that something else is "just as good!" Insist on the genuine HADACOL. You can't risk a cent, because it's sold on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great with the first few bottles you take, or your money will be refunded. Trial size, only $1.25. Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.
